

Animal Medical Center's Dr. Pam Ryan - Oxford Vet

Meet Dr. Pam Ryan, our primary doctor at Animal Medical Center - Oxford, next to Wal-Mart. Dr. Ryan is a local, having grown up in Ohatchee. She attended Jacksonville State University for her undergraduate studies, and after graduation from the University of Georgia's College of Veterinary Medicine, Dr. Ryan returned to our area to serve the community that provided her an "idyllic childhood," bringing husband Jeff, a professor at JSU, and daughter Clara with her.

Dr. Ryan's philosophy of practicing veterinary medicine is to always be mindful that every pet is a loved member of a family, and she considers herself to be the other "family doctor." She enjoys working with clients to develop the best possible healthcare plans for their pets.
